FOREWORD

WE, THE STAFF of this 1949 edition of the SHEYENNE, have tried to make you remember this year as you, the students, have lived it.

You are making a start on the highway of life by getting an education. Besides studying, you participated in other activities that you will want to remember after you have left Valley City High School. This annual was planned to help recall the pleasant days you spent here. That we have succeeded in our endeavors is the hope of the staff.

LAST, sunset comes — the solemn joy and might Borne from the West when cloudless day declines
Low, flutelike breezes sweep the waves of light,
And lifting dark green tresses of the pines.

DEDICATION

To the things we have stopped to do on our road through high school — the exchanging of ideas, the planning of assembly programs, the dramatic and athletic events, our moments of deeper thought, and other activities — we, the staff, dedicate this book, the 1949 Sheyenne.

Dr. Ward has been superintendent of the Valley City Public Schools for the past three years. During this time he has worked enthusiastically for the improvement of the school system. He has traveled throughout the United States, Canada, and Europe, and has studied the educational systems in England, France, Italy, and Germany.

He majored in Teacher Training and College Administration at Columbia University and Social Science at the University of Indiana. Also he studied law, government, and public speaking in Indiana with men well versed on these subjects.

Dr. Ward is known in many parts of the United States for his addresses. His messages are informative and worth while and are given a light touch by personal experiences and entertaining illustrations.

This year he was appointed a member of the American Library Association Committee to choose library books for the grades. Dr. Ward is also a member of many other educational and scientific organizations.

PRINCIPAL

Mr. Christopherson, in the three years he has been principal, has been busily occupied with the task of controlling the extra-curricular finances of the high school, recording attendance, checking grades of students, and looking after the day-by-day activities.

During the summer months he works toward his Ph.D. at the University of North Dakota. He received his B.A. at Luther College where he majored in social science and languages.

This year, Mr. Christopherson revived the idea of the school carnival which was a great success, both financially and in student participation.

Miss Albertine Steinborn
English, Psychology, Journalism
B. A. Valley City S. T. C.

As the school photographer Miss Steinborn was busy taking pictures for the Hi-Liner and the annual. As the adviser for both of these publications she put in her time meeting deadlines.

Miss Steinborn spent two periods a week teaching an interested class of thirty-five students the fundamentals of newswriting, and training them so they would be able to fill the positions of editors, associate editors and reporters of next year's Hi-Liners.

She also taught two senior English classes and a psychology class. Her hobbies are photography, reading, and sewing.

Mrs. Helen Davidson
Librarian
B. A. Valley City S. T. C.

Mrs. Helen Davidson, librarian, obtained her B. A. from Valley City State Teachers College and is working on her B. L. S. at Wisconsin University.

Many new books arrived last year and were cataloged. More are being purchased from the memorial fund for Miss Thelma Thorkelson, former secretary to the superintendent.

Mrs. Davidson has two girls and a boy. She enjoys ceramics and is in her tenth year of 4H club leadership. She taught a Sunday School class and sang in the church choir this past year. She also holds an office in Eastern Star. With all this activity she never worries about dull moments.

Charles J. Challey
Vocational Agriculture
B. S. and M. S. North Dakota Agricultural College

The phrases "strip cropping," "crop rotation," and "terracing" may be "Greek" to city folks, but not so to the students in Mr. Challey's agriculture classes.

In accordance with this class, Mr. Challey organized here the youth program, Future Farmers of Amercia, commonly called the F.F.A. These future farmers studied farm management and the care of live stock.

Mr. Challey's outside interest include his two small sons (future F. F. A. members, perhaps), and his hobbies — hunting, fishing, and craft work. He is also a skilled pianist.

Wilbur H. Bartle
Industrial Arts
B. S. Ellendale State Normal

The thud of hammers, the whir of saws, and the smell of sawdust were everyday occurrences in the classroom routine of Mr. Bartle. Under his supervision shop students learned the fundamentals of building and repairing.

Mr. Bartle also had charge of the trigonometry class. Here he endeavored to teach bewildered students all they must know about circles, triangles, and squares.

Mr. Bartle's help was indispensable in building counters and shelves for the lunch room and providing benches and palettes for the art class.

Miss Helen E. Noess
Home Economics
B. A. Valparaiso University

Last year Miss Noess had almost all new equipment added to the foods laboratory and this past year the sewing department received new sewing machines. The girls tried a new and faster method of sewing — no basting and the pattern was fitted before the material was cut. The girls learned the art of freezing food — even biscuits. The foods laboratory also received some new equipment — a home freezer, an ironer, and new furniture in the living room.

Nimble fingers beat in perfect rhythm.

Mrs. Sabina Wimmer Beal
Commerce
B. A. Valley City S. T. C.

Mrs. Beal was new to the Valley City High School faculty this year. She taught school in Buffalo and Kathryn, North Dakota; however, most of her time before coming to Valley High was spent in business and secretarial work rather than teaching.

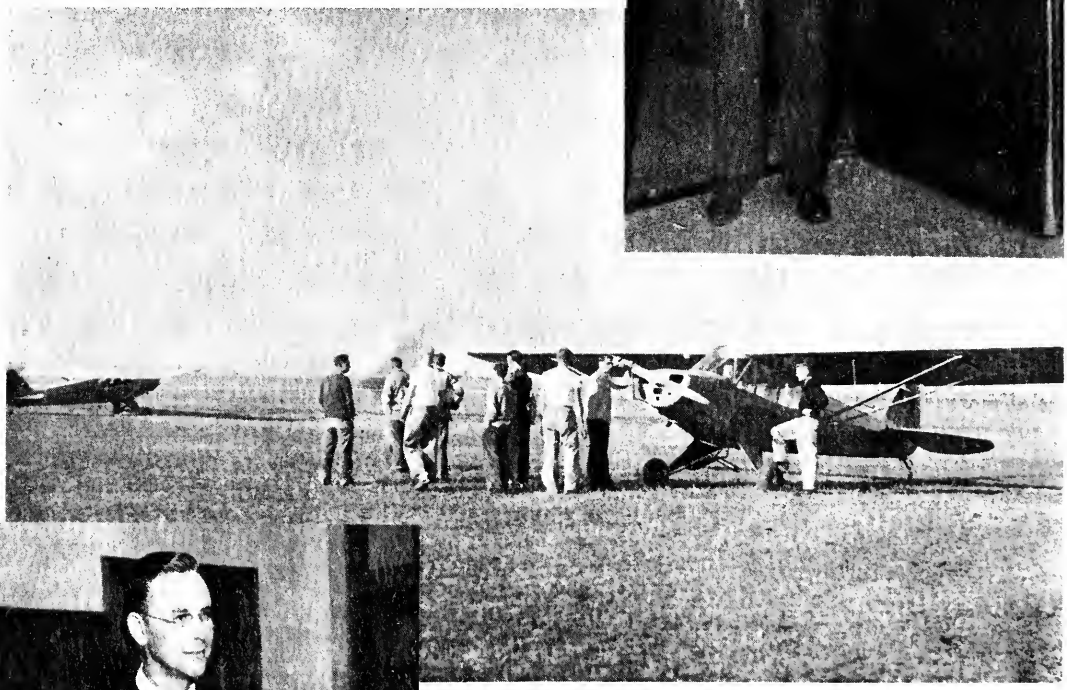
Many of the Stenography II students acted as secretaries to the teachers, and a few had secretarial positions in city business places.

Frank D. Cink
Science
B. A. Valley City S. T. C.

"When two or more elements chemically unite, a compound is formed." "The formula for cane sugar is $C^{6}H^{12}O^{11}$." These were familiar statements in the chemistry classrooms. Under the supervision of Mr. Cink, budding chemists performed strange and interesting experiments to discover the chemical makeup of various substances.

Mr. Cink also had charge of the aeronautics class. Students interested in the art of flying had an excellent chance to receive preparatory training from this course. Mr. Cink is well qualified to teach aeronautics as he spent some time in the U. S. Army Air Force.

A class of seven physicists learned that air is compressible, according to Boyle's law, and that springs have elastic limits.



The aero class gets first hand training at the airport.

In the fall of 1946, a new crop of "fresh from junior high" students arrived on the doorstep of VCHS. Since then, the juniors have taken part in many activities, both educational and entertaining.

First, many new faces joined the a cappella and chorus. Students were even staying home nights to practice on their new cornets and clarinets to get in trim for their first appearance in the high school band. Two industrious girls, Janet Ployhar and Joyce (Bubs) Macdonald, were continuously beating their tables with their drum sticks to get the right rhythm to play a drum. Not that the neighbors' didn't mind, because they did.

Then came the field of sports, open to both girls and boys alike. In his freshman year, Ronald Wallin (Sut) made the Hi-Liner team and that is quite a thrill to any boy — and a special one when he is a freshman.

During the sophomore year, Ralph Bevins and Emil Carlson were promoted to first-string Hi-Liner basketball team along with several other sophomores who really showed what they could do. In the boys' junior year, they improved their playing in both basketball and football, and the juniors made up a good share of all the sports in high school. Also, in their junior year, Ralph and Emil were elected co-captains of the basketball team.

Girls' sports came next. Donna Iverson has been active in G.A.A. since she started as a freshman. She held an office for one year, that of secretary. It was rumored around that sometime during the junior year, a girls' softball team was supposed to have been the most powerful.

Then came the lighter side of school. The freshman girls scout troop put on the Girl Scout Formal and everyone had a good time, after a hectic day of wondering if the girls should leave the straps on their formals or should they cut them off and be as daring as Lauren Bacall. And the boys? Well, even though boys don't seem to worry much about what they are to wear, they nevertheless preen for hours before date time.

The junior girls had formed a new potluck in their sophomore year answering to the name of 'Timid Ten." Included in that group were Betsy Pfusch, Janet Ployhar, Carol Beal, Marion Gillund, Joy Heimann, Joyce Macdonald, LaDonna Iverson, Jeanette Larson, Yvonne Belland and Joyce Norgaard. During the year, Janet Ployhar, Betsy Pfusch, and Yvonne Belland moved out of town and a new member, Donna Naekel, was chosen.

More groups were formed — a trio—Geraldine Kringlie, Anna Barnard and Emma Maine. They were almost inseparable through the years. LaVancha Maasjo and Delores Foster have also formed quite a friendship. No boys' clubs were formed unless the boys had held out on the girls and had a rendezvous all their own.

All this is junior history. In their senior year they will continue their fine sports, take part in all dramatics, and spend some time with their extracurricular, as well as with academic work.

SOPHOMORES

John R. Gage, foreign language instructor, took charge of Home Room 305, with Keith Carlson as president; Helen Burchill, vice president; and Pat Buttke, secretary-treasurer.

President Robert King had vice president, Gerald Kringlie; secretary, Vivian Larson, and treasurer, James Naekel, to assist him in directing the activities of Home Room 307. F. D. Cink, science instructor, was the supervisor.

Miss Albertine Steinborn, English and journalism instructor, was in charge of Home Room 302. Eleanor Schmidt, as president, rapped the gavel; her stand-in was Illa Olson. Minutes were read by the Secretary, Roger Purfeerst, and treasury reports were given by Allan Starke.

Row 2 — Ernest Green, Duane Hagen, Donald Hann, Janet Hanna, Mary Hanssen.

Those who participated in the sports field played basketball, kitten ball, and kick ball. Ambitious girls who were members of the G. A. A. (Girls' Athletic Association) were Dorothy Benzinger, Beverly Bloedel, Pat Buttke, Marlys Engen, Rae Krug, Janice Messner, Illa Jean Olson, Eleanor Schmidt, and Mary Jane Ludwig.

Radio Guild members have had a busy year with broadcasts every Friday evening. The students who went all out to make it a real success from the sophomores were Eleanor Schmidt, Illa Jean Olson, Albert Bartz, Keith Carlson, Charles Geisler, Kitty Bryngelson, Jean Nielson, and James Hougen.

Band members were Albert Bartz, Kitty Bryngelson, Keith Carlson, Marlys Engen, Charles Geisler, James Hougen, Karen Jungnitsch, Kathleen Nelson, Jean Nielson, Donna Olson, Illa Jean Olson, Verna Jane Olson, Allan Starke, Pat Stillings, and Betty Tronson.

Those arguing two who were interested in debate were Charles Geisler and Albert Bartz.

The Hi-Liner basketball team swiped a few boys from this class. These lucky creatures were Bob King, Holly Galloway, and Gerald Kringlie. The Baby Hi-Liners, better known as the Reserves, were James Naekel, Ray Faust and Holly Galloway.

The home rooms met every Wednesday morning where they made plans for dances, parties, and various other entertainment interesting to the class. Room 302 had a Christmas party December 22 outside of school hours, while Room 307 had their party on December 15 during the home room period.

Pat Buttke and James Naekel were elected as the queen and king candidates for Schmoo Day from the sophomore class. Pat was attendant to the queen. Their candidate for carnival queen was Jean Boom.

The sophomore girls have two loyal pot-lucks. The Spaogos were first organized in the seventh grade and have been together since then. Karen Jungnitsch, Janet Hanna, Betty Tronson, Jean Nielson, Illa Olson, Eleanor Schmidt, Donnah Olson, Kitty Bryngelson, Pat Stillings, Carroll Gene Bong, and Marlys Engen are the members of this pot-luck. They usually get together on Fridays for their pot-luck supper and have parties to celebrate the birthday of each member.

The "Sitting Spiders" is the other sophomore pot-luck. This is newly organized and has Helen Burchill, Mary Jane Ludwig, Beverly Bloedel, Janice Messner, Pat Buttke, Darlene Jensen, Bette Anderson, Beverly Maresh, Lorraine Fredrick, and Mary Ann Hanssen as members. Their meetings come only about once a month because most of these girls work after school and on Saturdays.

It was a sad day for the Wops because the Hi-Liners had beaten them badly and one of their players was in terrible pain on an "operating table." Dr. Slitgut, a slightly zany surgeon, had quite a time diagnosing the case. First he said it was "cancer," then a "tumor," but the "patient" died despite the expert medical care. The moral of this little skit was, "Beware of the Hi-Liners."

It was nothing new for the upper classmen to put on a pep program but for the freshmen's first time they really entertained the students and faculty.

H. E. CHRISTOPHERSON
Adviser

This year ten students made up the Valley City high school Minerva Chapter of the National Honor Society whose aim it is to create enthusiasm for scholarship, service, and development of character.

Candidates eligible to membership must have a scholarship rank in the upper third of their class; however, not more than fifteen per cent of the graduating class can be elected to the chapter.

The general control of this organization, which has existed for many years, is rested on a National Council consisting of nine members who must approve the local group. H. E. Christopherson, principal, is the adviser of the Valley City High School group.

Having a scholastic average of 97 per cent, Myrna Christopherson had the honor of being valedictorian of the 1949 graduating class. Donna Aaker, with an average of 96 per cent, was the salutatorian, and Ray Fearing, with an average of 95 per cent, was the highest ranking boy.

The Reserve machine went through a rather poor season with a record of one win and three losses. They started the season by trouncing Enderlin, 40-13, on Hanna field. They then traveled to Enderlin to take their first lacing of the season, 6-0. Next came the Lisbon Reserves which completely outclassed them and ran up a score of 40-13: Jamestown, always a bitter rival, closed the season by handing them a 35-13 defeat.

GRIDDERS STOP THREE

Charles Taylor, captain-elect in his third year of football at V.C.H.S., led the Hi-Liner football team through a fair season from his left halfback spot. Because of injuries Chuck did not play up to par this year, but when in good physical condition, his shifty running helped the Hi-Liners.

CAPTAIN TAYLOR

COACH ECKEL

Although the Hi-Liner grid team won only three games, Coach James Eckel is satisfied that his boys had a successful year in that they improved constantly throughout the playing season. The team played its best in two games it lost, namely to Jamestown and Fargo.

At the beginning of the season, Eckel started out with twelve lettermen of whom only one was a regular from the previous season, Charles Taylor, captain-elect of the team.

Nineteen boys earned their football letters this year and only one was a major casualty; that was Emil Hass who broke his leg in the final game against Sacred Heart. The reason that there were not so many injuries was that the team was in good physical condition. This was proved in many of the games when almost throughout the entire four periods the same boys played with no rest and did not feel any ill effects from the strenuous exertion.

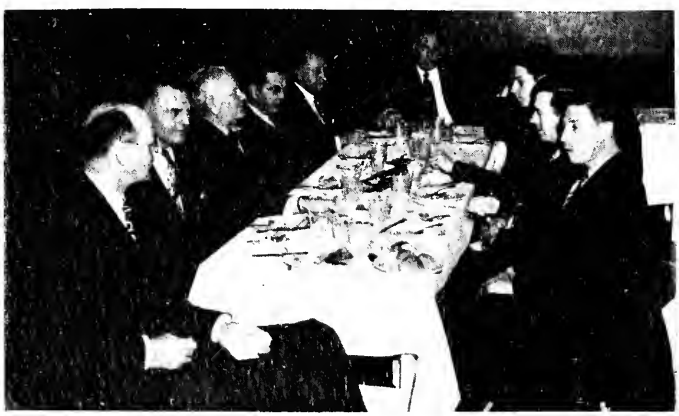
Coach A. C. Larvick is a graduate of Valley City State Teachers College and did graduate work at the University of North Dakota. He coached the state championship 1945 Hi-Liners. He formerly coached at Elbow Lake, Minnesota, where he had an outstanding record.

School board and the coaching staff attend the athletic dinner.



Emil Carlson captained the 1948-49 Hi-Liners through a fairly successful season. This was Emil's second year on the varsity and he will be back again next year. He led the Hi-Liners' scoring attack with 212 points in 21 games. Although only a junior, Emil was chosen on the All-Eastern Tournament team and also on the All-Minn-Kota Conference team.

RESERVE CAGERS FIND NINE ROUGH ROADS

Having only two lettermen —Emil Carlson, Ralph Bevins— back from the '47-48 team, the Hi-Liners had to start the season with an entirely new force.

The Hi-Liners record for the past season showed 6 wins against 15 defeats which included the Eastern Tournament playoffs in which the Hi-Liners gained fourth place, and the Devils Lake Holiday tournament. The Hi-Liners lose only one man from this year's squad, Hugo Carlson, center, which means that there will be nine lettermen back next year. The 1949 squad consisted of seven juniors, Emil Carlson, Ralph Bevins, Ron Wallin, Rockne Larvick, Lyle Guscette, Jerry Watson and Roger Johnson, and two sophomores, Jerry Kringlie and Bob King. Four of these nine were members of the first five. During the season the Blue-Whites scored 828 points to their opponents' 977.

The Blue-Whites six wins came over Sacred Heart twice (50-38 and 46-41), Grafton (38-34), Jamestown (38-29), Wahpeton (51-48), and Park River (43-38). Losses were to Fargo three (69-47, 50-36, and 75-49), Fergus Falls two, (44-25 and 66-31,), Jamestown two (44-43 and 45-39), Wahpeton (48-38), Sacred Heart (53-45), Moorhead (37-31), Breckenridge (51-42), Devils Lake (56-45), Grand Forks (38-32), Park River (31-29), and Bismarck (42-30).

Captain Emil Carlson was high scorer on the team this year getting 212 points in 21 games for a 10-point per game average. Second in line was Hugo Carlson with 171 points, and third was Ron Wallin with 162 counters in the same number of games.

Coach Frank Cink's Hi-Liner Reserves ran into a rather rough season in which they were able to get only two victories against nine defeats. The Reserves' two wins both came at the expense of the Jamestown Reserves, 47-29 and 20-16. The Reserves lost a pair of games to the Fargo B team, and to the Moorhead Reserves, College High, Marion, Rogers, Wimbledon and a pair to Fingal. The Hi-Liner Reserves scored a total of 308 points to their opponents 367 for a 28-points per game average.

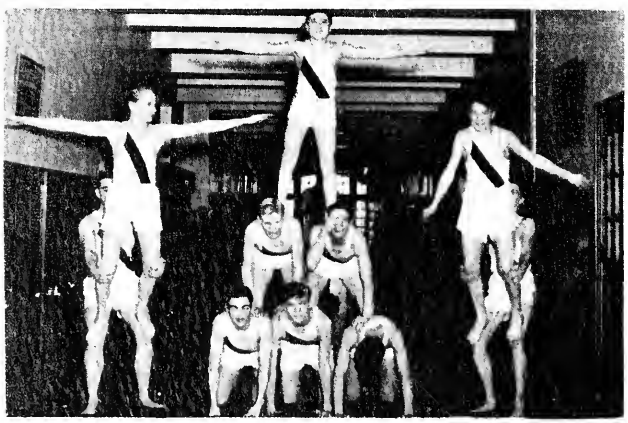
Entertainment? Right! Tom Peterson, captain, and the tumbling squad provided entertainment between the first and second halves of several Hi-Liner games. The crowd was thrilled as the boys turned double flips in the air and when the team built pyramids they proved that "What goes up must come down."

In practice the boys were very much at ease and could do almost anything with a spring board, net, and other school equipment; but as they had only a few minutes for performances they were not able to show all their skills.

This year the members of the team were able to earn letters by a point system similar to the one used by the basketball and football coaches.



Practice makes perfect! The tumbling team were practicing for an exhibition and were taken by surprise by a "camera happy" person. They didn't seem to mind as they all appear with smiles.

Robin Maier couldn't maintain his balance and was ready to fall over just as the picture was being taken. He lived though!

Jim Hockenberry was having a laughing spell and naturally Alvin Morford had to show his strength by using only one hand; but if that hand were to have given out—poor Newell Grant, who takes care of the top position!

TRACK MEN POUND THE ROAD

Hugo Carlson

Hugo Carlson, senior, was elected track captain for the '49 season. He has three letters in football and one in basketball, besides track. Head track coach is Don Weiss who is also assistant football coach and charts shots for the basketball team. This is Mr. Weiss' second year as track coach.

ATTRACTIONS ALONG THE HIGHWAYS

The 'Blue-White Day' coronation ceremony took place October 8 in the High School gymnasium. Hugo Carlson and Donna Aaker were crowned king and queen by H. E. Christopherson, principal. Eileen Beyer, La Rae Robertson, Charles Taylor, and Robert Beyer were the attendants.

The royal group led the snake dance in Al Foss's blue convertible with Don Olson as chauffeur. Cheers were given at each intersection.

Box seats were provided at the Jamestown game but the queen and her attendants reigned alone as the king and his attendants were more valuable on the football field than in the grandstand.

The annual bonfire was held at 7:00 and was followed by the torch parade to Hanna Field.

BECKY RAVELING

SONJA FRIESTAD, DOLORES ROHDE

Mary Schulz started cheerleading in junior high school and continued throughout her four years at V.C.H.S. In her junior year she took complete charge of the cheerleading squad. Mary devoted considerable time and energy to many pep programs.

Dolores Rohde and Sonja Friestead were the back bone of the majorettes, each having spent three years in this activity. Together they prepared routines and taught new majorettes to twirl.

Delores Leick, Tom Peterson, Mary Schulz, Orvel Baldwin and Loretta Bye made up the cheerleading squad for 1948-49. These five loyal students participated in about one pep program every week during the whole basketball season. Most of the credit for the sporting spirit shown by V. C. spectators is due to these five persons.

MARILYN GRACE, JOY HEIMANN, JOYCE KENNEDY

Marilyn Grace, Joy Heimann, and Joyce Kennedy have been twirling for two years. They were in physical education demonstrations and many times they performed between the halves of basketball games.

Hugo Carlson, treasurer, checked over the finances, while Bill Stutsman, secretary, read his minutes before the meeting began. Bob Beyer, president, right, watched for mistakes and Bob Higginbotham, left, vice-president, looked on so that in case of an absence he knew how to take over.

The main money project was the selling of programs at all the football and basketball games. Approximately $200 remained in the treasury with which to start the next year. The club also sponsored several side shows in the all-school carnival.

During the past year one of the main high lights of the Lettermen's Club was the initiation ceremony which featured all the inductees, wearing their overshoes in school and shining the old members' shoes.

The club was organized in 1947, although regular meetings were not held until the next year when Kenny Stoll was elected president. This past year meetings were held every other Tuesday night at which means of making money and other activities were discussed. All the meetings were carried out in regular parliamentary procedure with Bob Beyer, senior, as the president; Bob Higginbotham, senior, vice-president; Bill Stutsman, junior, secretary, and Hugo Carlson, senior, treasurer. Coaches Weiss, Larvick and Eckel were the advisers.

All the senior lettermen received sterling silver belt buckles with a large V.C. and the words "Lettermen's Club" printed on them. Also during the year the outstanding senior athlete was picked and given an all wool blanket with a large V.C. crest in the center.

Basketball was the main highlight in the program for G. A. A. this year with a game with the college training school ending the season.

Besides basketball the girls participated in several activities such as kittenball, volley ball, bowling, tennis, roller-skating, hiking, and many others in order to earn 500 points necessary to receive a letter.

Seventeen girls came out for the meetings on Monday after school and every first and third Wednesday evening. At a special meeting a representative of each class and the adviser revised the constitution for the organization. New ideas were taken from the constitutions of other high schools.

A tumbling team was organized again with a special routine for the gym exhibition given in the spring. An intramural program was arranged for the girls, too, this year. A tournament was played in the classes and then between the different classes. Next year the G. A. A. plans to have a more extensive program.

At an early meeting of the G A. A. officers were elected for the coming year. They were: Lucille Clancy, president; Inez Lovaas, vice-president, and Dawn Meldahl, secretary-treasurer. Dawn also kept a record of the points the members earned during the year for their letters. Miss Berenice Schiefelbein, physical education instructor, was the adviser. All three of the officers were seniors and earned four letters.

SHOP BOYS BECOME HANDYMEN

Shop boys will make the perfect husbands as they will be able to fix anything from a chair to the kitchen sink. Not only can they repair furniture, but they may become ambitious and build the furniture itselt. Tables, lamps, bookcases, and many other articles are made each year in shop.

At the beginning of the year the boys were taught simple things whict later were used to a great advantage when real work got under way. They were taught to draw up their own plans, how to make and use several joints, and how to use small hand tools. Shop machinery is dangerous if one does not know how to handle it, so the shop instructor, Wilbur H. Bartle, taught the correct method of handling and operating all electrical machinery.

By the end of the school year the shop classes built many things and were taught wood working methods.

Teaching shop classes has been the main work of Wilbur H. Bartle for the last three years. He is pictured here drawing floor plans for the high school building.

Ten juniors, under the direction of John R. Gage acted out "Hangman's Noose" for the enjoyment of the public.

The story was on the order of a mystery and provided suspense as well as laughs. Two murdered bodies were found before the killer was tracked down in the third act.

Money raised from this production financed the junior-senior prom and banquet.

DRAMATISTS CHOOSE TWO COMEDIES

Dale Maresh, Ray Fearing, and Ralph Markuson were busy bodies carrying furniture on stage for the senior play.

"So Help Me, Hannah" was portrayed by fourteen seniors under the direction of John R. Gage, dramatic instructor.

Willie Bascomb was none other than James Allan who seemed to get into more trouble. Willie's mother, Dorothy Wetald, leaves Willie alone to take care of some society people and gives him $50 to give to them; but it seems Willie already found a place for the $50, in fact, several places.

After three confusing acts — everything was finally cleared up when the curtain closed on the final scene.

The a cappella choir this year participated in the Christmas program, sang for the Rotary club, and for assembly programs and other gatherings. This organization is made up of 73 selected voices who sang various types of music such as Negro spirituals, folk songs, and sacred numbers. This year the Spring Festival was again held in Valley City with Lisbon, Valley City, Enderlin, and Jamestown taking part.

Eddie Johnston, Keith Carlson, Ray Fearing, Bob Leegard

Several distinct instrumental groups were organized this year. The two which made the most progress were the brass quartet in which Eddie Johnston and Keith Carlson played cornets, Ray Fearing, trombone, and Bob Leegard, baritone, and the clarinet quartet.

In the latter were Shirley Sandness, junior, bass clarinet; LaDonna Iverson and Glen Dieterich, juniors, and Myrna Christopherson, senior.

Next year will find the band dressed in new uniforms— trousers, jackets and caps. The colors being debated on are a dark green and gray or a royal blue with gray trousers. Blue would be the logical choice since it is the school color.

BAND MARCHES ON

Sixty members were enrolled in band this year under the direction of Wendell Tjon who also chose Mary Schulz and James Allen to act as student directors.

The officers were chosen by the members and Ray Fearing presided as president, James Pfusch as vice president, and Myrna Christopherson as secretary-treasurer. These were all seniors who had been in the band several years.

The band played for all the football and basketball games during the year and made several appearances on programs. They gave a concert for the students and also their spring concert whose main object was to obtain money for new uniforms. Their band festival was held in Enderlin, May 6. Mr. Tjon has been director for five years.

SHEYENNE STAFF USES HIGHWAY THEME

With scenic views and a few lines of verse regarding life as a road of happiness and of hardships, the opening pages of the 1949 Sheyenne give the seniors food for thought as they leave VCHS after four years of school which they will remember many times in later years.

Some will go on to college for further education and others will start the work in their chosen field immediately after leaving school.

During the course of their lives, through grade school and high school, their parents and teachers have been preparing them for the struggle that lies ahead on the road to success and happiness.

ALBERTINE STEINBORN
Adviser

With highways as the theme for the 1949 Sheyenne, the staff was kept busy compiling the many sections of the annual. Although the work was begun a little later than usual, the staff had the material to the printer by the deadline.

The editor, Donna Aaker, and her assistants, Myrna Christopherson and Don Olson, were chosen by the members of the junior class in the spring of 1948. The other members of the staff were selected from the seniors who wanted to help. They each were assigned to a special task so that everything would go smoothly. The members were Dorothy Larson, Mary Schulz, Eileen Beyer, Sonja Friestad, Dorothy Wefald, Donna Borg, La Rae Robertson, Hope Johnson, Dolores Gast, Laurie Ottinger, Lucille Merrett, Joyce Bruhschwein, Thomasine Brown, Rosemary Berg, Beverly Bergman, Delores Leick, Lucille Clancy, James Allen, Kenneth Cruff, Beverly Lee, Bob Beyer, Charles Aaker, Tom Peterson, Dawn Meldahl, Clarice Pals, Dolores Rohde, and Grace Layton.

Miss Albertine Steinborn, adviser of the Sheyenne, was always there to give helpful advice and supervise the work.

In the lower left-hand corner is James Allen, business manager, ready to solicit "ads" for the year book.

Fleet-fingered Eileen, typist (center), was kept busy typing copy to meet the deadline for both the annual and the Hi-Liner.

BERGMAN EDITS PAPER

THIRTY-FIVE STUDENTS PUBLISH HI-LINER HERALD

Miss Albertine Steinborn, Hi-Liner-Herald adviser, had a journalism class of thirty-five students almost evenly divided between the juniors and seniors this year.

In her junior year Beverly Bergman was the choice of her classmates to be editor of the Hi-Liner for 1948-49. Soon after the class was organized last fall, Delores Leick and Clarice Pals were selected from the senior members of the group to be assistant editor and associate editor, respectively.

The two-year students were given an opportunity to have their own columns. With so many ads, obtained by James Allen and La Donna Iverson, the literary portion of the paper was a little smaller this year.

Each edition of the paper had a clever cartoon drawn either by Emma Maine or Grace Layton.

THREE CLUBS KEEP ACTIVITIES MOVING

The Latin club, which met every Friday, was kept busy stenciling posters of Roman quotations. The club also had an annual spring picnic with plenty of "eats." Miss Lola Hotchkiss was the adviser.

MISS HAUGEN

This year the Radio Guild, under the direction of Miss Kora Haugen, presented a fifteen minute program every Friday at 3:45 over KOVC. There were musical, news broadcasts, and special holiday programs.

The different phases of radio guild work on which the members concentrated were announcing, sound effects, music, directing, and writing the scripts. The highlight of the year was a visit from the Jamestown Radio Guild.

Commerce Club Listens to Speech.

The 'Alpha Iota," a commerce club, composed of 27 members which was organized under the direction of Mrs. Frank Beal, Jr., required a "B" average or above for membership. Interesting programs with special speakers were planned for every meeting throughout the year.

Inez Lovaas, Joyce Kennedy, Thelma Reitan, and Laura Lang busy themselves in home economics class by making dresses, suits, and blouses.

Signing the guest book are "Gus" Lybeck and Lucille Merrett. Rosemary Berg was in charge.

Delores Leick, Ray Fearing, and Donna Aaker plan last minute prom details.

QUEENS RULE THE HIGHWAYS

Schmoo Day comes but once a year, and when it does, it brings good cheer.

Following the "penny voting" election held in the high school halls a dance was held at the teen canteen in honor of the King and Queen. The money went for the junior-senior prom.

Carnival time meant fun for all the school kids and grown-ups. The 1948 one was the largest carnival ever held in VCHS. It included everything from "soup to nuts." Everyone had a chance to vote for whom he wanted as queen of the carnival. Laurie Ottinger received the majority of votes and was honored the night of the affair.

PEP RIDES THE HIGHWAY

The traditional Blue-White bonfire, held west of the high school, gave the VCHS students pep and warmth throughout the game!

Donna Berg and Jeannie Nielson supply the spectators with coke and candy in case they are hungry or thirsty.

Frank Kringlie, Mary Jean Dibbern, and Charles Geisler help devour coke and candy at the hot-dog stand.

Grace Layton (right), with the help of Beverly Bergman, burned the dummy signifying the defeat of the Jamestown Blue-Jays. Newell Grant, a freshman, has his first glimpse of this school tradition.
